NLUJ-ITEC Collaboration

Rajasthan which is also known as the “Land of Maharajas” is the largest state of India covering an area of about 342,239 sq. km. It comprises of 33 districts and its largest city is Jaipur, which is also its capital. Being located on the western side of the country, it shares its border with Pakistan to its northwest and to the west it shares its border with Sindh. To its north it has Punjab, Uttar Pradesh and Haryana to its northeast; to its southeast it has Madhya Pradesh and Gujarat to its southwest.

Rajasthan has royal grandeur and a glorious history. The history of Rajasthan goes back as far as Indus valley civilization, the foundation of this community took shape with the rise of western middle kingdoms such as the western Kshatrapas, who were the successors to the Indo-Scythians who invaded Ujjain and established the Saka era. This charming and captivating state of India is known for its brave kings, their deeds, interests in art and architecture among other virtues.

Rajasthani Culture dates back to the years of kings where it was previously called Rajputana whose codes of chivalry shaped social mores and dominated politics. Over the years it has been ruled by various kings including the Rajput, Marathas and even Muslim rulers, which resulted in the diverse culture of Rajasthan, bearing numerous beautiful forts with a wide variety in its architecture, language and customs of its people. Rajasthan, in spite of being a desert, has been endowed with beautiful sites that include various palaces, forts and pilgrim centres that define what Rajasthan is. The architectural beauty of Rajasthan is world renowned, forts, palaces, havelis, tombs, cenotaph and sculptures present across the geography of state, reveal the blend of multiple dynasties that ruled the ancient lands. Rajasthan has a rich heritage of its peculiar Art Culture & Architecture. Many of these art forms have survived through ages and are even part of present culture of Rajasthan. The architectural style in Rajasthan is as diverse as its people, evidenced by the exemplary sites of Islamic, Hindu, colonial and even modern architecture.

Rajasthan has a tradition of highly cultivated music and dance forms. The music is uncomplicated, raw and songs depict daily chores. Folk music is an integral part of Rajasthani culture. Ballads, Bhopas relate heroic deeds, love stories through folk songs. Bhajans and Banis with folk music instruments give it distinct taste. The Kalbeliya dance of Jaisalmer and Ghoomar dance of Udaipur have gained recognition internationally.

This rich tradition of Rajasthan reflects in the ethos and functioning of the grand relation between National Law University Jodhpur and The Indian Technical and Economic Cooperation (ITEC) Programme. ITEC courses are formulated to equip the participants with not just professional skills but also prepare them for an increasingly globalised world. In this backdrop, its collaboration with National Law University Jodhpur serves to provide a thoroughly enriching experience seeped in the royal Rajasthani cultural tradition of hosting guests. The rich tradition of administration of justice in Rajasthan has continued with landmark judgments passed by its honourable judges. Contributions from stellar Academicians, Bar and Bench alike will open many avenues of learning of court management and contemporary legal dimensions for the participants.

Course Objectives and Pedagogy

The special training programme for capacity building of Judicial officers of ITEC partnering countries has been designed to holistically enhance the proficiency of the participants in contemporary legal theory and practice. NLUJ proposes two-week programme on Competition Law. The sessions will follow a pedagogy of lecture and case study discussion, practical training, designed to allow an interactive engagement for better analytical and critical understanding of the topics. It is with this aim that each session is set for a duration of one and a half hours, with the last half hour devoted to questions and answers. The last session would be evaluation.

Interactions with Indian Judges who will familiarise the participants with best practices in Courts will enrich each individual with new capabilities in problem solving. The exposure to contemporary legal developments and theoretical understandings have to go hand in hand for a complete process of capacity building. Renowned academicians and practitioners will be invited to deliver lectures ensuring the fulfilment of course objectives. The competence of the institution and the availability of subject experts at a historic place make this programme unique and unparalleled.

During the programme the participants will be benefitted from the study tour to the High Court; and places of historical and cultural importance.

Inaugural and Valedictory Sessions

The course commences with an inaugural session and ends with the valedictory session.
